FAMOUS CONTRALTO CHARM AUDIENCE

Hundreds Sit Spellbound as Schumann-Heink Renders Beautiful Concert Last Evening.

True devotees of music filled the Myers theatre last evening upon the occasion of the appearance of Madame Schumann-Heink, the world famous contralto, who rendered a concert long to be remembered in this city. The Madame is one to win her way into the hearts of the people, not by her ability as a prima donna, but just as a plain, motherly woman of family who has made herself famous through the exquisite beauty of her wonderful voice.

Not only was the program so arranged to please every individual taste of the audience, but it also served to show Madame's great versatility in range, timbre, execution and expression.

The thunderous applause that greeted Madame's appearance died away to breathless silence when the famous diva took the opening note to the first number, the aria from "Siegfried," to burst forth again when the echo of the last note found its way to the stars above.

The second number, arlleso, "Ah, Mon Fils," from the opera "Le Prophete," was rendered with Madame's usual brilliancy. This is one of the contralto's favorites in repertoire and always delights the spellbound audience.

In the aria from "Schumann and Delilah," (Sant-Saens) Schumann-Heink infused her own personality and charm in its rendition. In the Shepherd song, "Tannhauser," Madame again showed her skill for this class of music.

"O Rest in the Lord," the closing number of part two of the program, was fitting and vociferously cheered. Part three opened with "Loblieben," (Brahms) followed with "Wie Duamant," by Prochazka.

Who doesn't love the Madame most particularly when she sings that cradle song by Hans Hermann, "Sunn, sunn, der schuldman's come." And then the Erl King! Like distant thunder from the hill tops rolled the notes, sonorous, vibrating, holding each auditor deep in the spell.

Worthy of great praise indeed was the piano accompaniment to the Erl King. Mrs. Hoffman easily ranks with the ablest pianists in the world. In no small measure was the success of the concert due to her skill.

So on through Chadwick's "When I Am Dead," and other numbers the wonderful one charmed and held in wonder her audience. When the last note of the closing number died away, the applause burst forth, so warm were the listeners in the spell of music. She was very generous with her encores, which she was continually called upon to give. Those who did not hear Madame Schumann-Heink may count a rare opportunity lost, and those who were in the audience last evening are ten-fold better for having listened to the excellent program.

WILL TAKE INSANE MAN TO CHICAGO

John Benson, Friend of Demented Person, Will Leave For Home With Him at 5:22 This Afternoon.

John E. Benson of Chicago, arrived in the city at three o'clock this afternoon to take back to that city Carl E. Hamgren, the insane man who was picked up near here by Sheriff Hanson yesterday afternoon. This morning the sheriff got into communication with the secretary of the "Odd Fellows" League of Chicago who contacted with the man's brother, Fred, Hamgren. The latter was unable to leave at this time and consequently Benson was sent.

From information furnished by Benson, Hamgren is a single man and had been working in a grocery store in Chicago. Sunday morning he left that city for Rockford with the intention of buying a farm there. When he left he was apparently in his right mind. For some time past he has not been well but has been suffering from a paralysis which it has been thought affected his mind. The man has been in a sort of stupor all day and has not yet regained a recollection of his surroundings or conditions. He is still laboring under the impression that he is in Chicago. Benson will leave here on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road at 5:22.

It was learned that he had been involved in some financial ventures lately that had resulted in a loss of money.

Treasured Trees.

Two trees to be seen in the main street of Thoreauville, the capital of the Faroe Islands, have an interesting history. Trees resolutely refuse to grow in these islands, except in some few sheltered spots, and the inhabitants therefore prize them greatly. When the road was made it was decided to leave the trees in the middle of the carriage way rather than be guilty of the crime of felling them.

Motion of Eiffel Tower.

Expansion due to the heat of the sun gives the top of the Eiffel tower a daily motion of from one to seven inches, varying with the seasons.

NORTHWESTERN BALL TEAM HAS ISSUED CHALLENGE

Crack Nine Is Being Organized At South Janesville By Games—Ready For Games Soon.

Interest in the first of American sports is keen at South Janesville and not content with merely being posted as to the scores in the big League, the road employees have organized a team and are now ready to meet any and all comers.

Many of the more important places on the team have been filled and these men will undoubtedly keep their positions during the entire season. However, every man will be given a try-out in order that the best ball club possible be recruited. Jos. Whalen will undoubtedly win for himself the title of the Peoria Twirler as he is there with the fancy ones and can deliver more puzzlers than any other player for the place on the central mound.

James Smith, it is said by those who know, lacks good behind the bat, but the man for the initial seat is subject to change, although John Cochran may be a fixture at that position if he continues to keep form. On the key stone big Frank Slevolet will undoubtedly hold sway and will be ably supported by Jas. Gardner at short. Third base will be covered by either George Rood or Bert Bennett and among the candidates for the garden spots are Henry Meyer, Chas. Vebrellitz and Norman Schumacher.

All communications regarding schedules and applications for games should be addressed to J. P. Manson, Manager, who has charge of all arrangements for the season. Negotiations are being made at present for several fast games and practice is more than hot. Try-outs are held every noon and candidates are fast rounding into crack players.

PRESENT INDICATIONS SHOW LOSS OF BUSINESS

Various Indications That Great Rush Season Has Begun On St. Paul Road.

There is more than one indication that the period of dullness at this point has passed and that the rush of spring business is now on its feet. One indication is a note that has been added to the regular night switching force; an extra man has been put on the down town job; larger power engines have been pressed into service; number of hours of overtime of road crews has increased, and frequent white flags on engines, marking extra trains, all these things point to the fact that traffic is picking up. The least bit of "stilt" (idle moments) on the switch engines is a thing of the past.

Division Superintendent W. J. Underwood and Chief Dispatcher C. H. Agner, passed through here yesterday on No. 21, on an inspection trip over the Mineral Point division.

FORUM BASEBALL NINE WAS BEATEN

Runk Lyceum Athletes Nosed Out Opponents in Close Game Yesterday, 8 to 7.

At the Athletic park yesterday afternoon the Runk Lyceum defeated the Forum Literary society of the local high school in a baseball game by a very close score of 8 to 7.

The game was the first of a series arranged between the two rival boys' societies of the high. Both societies have exceptionally good teams and the excitement of the game throughout was very noticeable.

On account of the necessity of playing after school, the game was to be only seven innings long. At the end of five innings the Forum's bat was warming up to Kora's curves and by the end of the seventh had found a sufficient number of them to make the score stand 7 to 7. Then at the end of the eighth inning the Runk, by good fortune, led, 8 to 7.

Batteries: Runk—Kora and Koch. Forum—Hummel and Brown. Umpire—L. E. Rahr, the critic of the Runk.

Central Starts Pennant Race.—The Terre Haute, Ind., April 25.—The Central League inaugurated its season today under conditions that led to a general belief among managers and spectators that this is to be the most successful year in the history of the organization. Grand stands at Vincennes, Ellettsville, Fort Wayne and the South Bend stadiums in this city. One hundred and forty games are scheduled for the season which will end September 10.

Portland Kennel Club Show.—Portland, Ore., April 25.—Five hundred aristocratic canines representing all the popular breeds were bunched at the opening of the annual show of the Portland Kennel Club. Well-known kennels from the western sections of the United States and Canada are showing and in many respects the show is the best ever made here. The exhibition will continue until the end of the week.

Fights Scheduled for Tonight.—Ad Volzant vs. "One Round" Hogan, 10 rounds, at New York.

Base Ball Notes.—Baltimore gets a promising third baseman in Fullerton, the former Giant.

Herrmann, Dreyfuss, Steinlager and Murphy. A fine healthy place for an athlete.

There will be no free "ladies day" in the Tri-State League this year. The stingy old thing.

Pitcher George Mullin has won five and lost two opening day games since joining the Detroit Tigers.

Scout Billy Hamilton of the Boston Nationals has picked up a youngster named Neeley, a big pitcher from Memphis.

According to a Chicago story Manager Frank Chance of the Cubs will retire from the game for good at the close of the present season.

Very few minor league diamonds will be found in the Central League this season. The Central Managers will depend upon the youngsters.

Lenderus, the Quakers' young first baseman, pronounces his name "Lenderus" with the accent on the "dee". He is making good at that.

After their long training trips several minor league teams will have to get their real baseball practice during the first two months of the season.

Johnny Kane who has been a utility performer with the Cubs for several years, has been released to the Vernon Club of the Pacific Coast League.

Jack Doyle, the old New York player has started the season as an umpire in the National League. May he live a happy life, and be able to dodge successfully.

You can't beat Joe Cantillon. At his Minneapolis ball yard Joe will have girls selling tickets and "Rube" Waddell performing "right in line, cents."

The Quakers' hammer Christy Mathewson for fifteen base hits and then the Polo Ground stands are destroyed by fire. Guess they will keep "Flaming Top" Doolin out of New York after this.

It was reported a short time ago that Brooklyn intended to slip Bill Bergen his passport and lead him to the big bridge. Nothing like that in Bill's family, if his work in the opening game at Boston is considered.

Jack McCormack, the old time heavy weight, has opened a roadhouse near Chicago.

Several newspapers edited and published by negroes are roasting Jack Johnson to a turn. They say that the champion is a disgrace to the negro race.

NEW SENATOR FROM IOWA.

Des Moines, Ia.—The election of W. S. Kenyon as senator from Iowa was the result of the hardest fought senatorial contests in the history of the state. It came at the sixty-seventh joint ballot.

Judge Kenyon, the new senator, was born in Elyria, Ohio, on June 16, 1863, and received his education at Harvard, Iowa. He was admitted to the bar following his graduation and shortly after was elected public prosecutor of Webster county, Iowa. that company, with offices at Chicago, and served in that capacity until 1910. He was appointed assistant to the attorney general of the United States March 14, 1910, and took part in Federal prosecution against the beef combine.

Do you know the life insurance feature of this 200 piano club

If I should die during the life of the contract, L. N. Skavlem would immediately send a receipt in full to my wife for the instrument—that is insurance that insures—guess I'll buy a club piano.

fords the club member absolute protection. The thought of losing the instrument through inability to make the remaining payments should the club member happen to die before the instrument is fully paid for, can be put entirely out of mind.

The agreement is made with the club member, in writing—and the beauty of the feature is that the piano does not cost more than the club price—$277.50—for its being there, neither is the club member obligated to pay more than 1 dollar and 25 cents a week on account of it.

The life insurance feature of the Skavlem piano club does not cost the club member one cent extra.

You haven't overlooked the fact that the Skavlem piano club has a life insurance feature connected with it, have you?

It has. It's like this:

We realized before organizing this club, that in event we did organize the club, the majority of the members would be those who would appreciate a protective feature like this. We thought that the members would feel a security about such a feature. We therefore figured it out with this result:

That in the event of the death of a club member before his piano is paid for, the remaining payments will be canceled forthwith and a receipt in full will be turned over to his family.

There is nothing more to be said concerning this invaluable feature. It affords

OTHER FEATURES OF THE SKAVLEM PIANO CLUB IN DETAIL

1. The Club is to be composed of 200 members.
2. Three-fourths of the memberships have been taken.
3. The value of the Skavlem Club piano is $375.
4. The price to Skavlem Club members is $277.50.
5. The terms are $5.00 cash when you join, and $1.25 per week. There's no interest added to this.
6. The piano will be delivered when you join, or later, as you wish.
7. The weekly payments of $1.25 begin when the piano is delivered.
8. Every instrument is guaranteed without reserve—for ten years. There are no "ifs" or "ands" in the guarantee; just a straight guarantee, as strong as we know how to make it in writing.
9. If, after 30 days' trial, the piano is not satisfactory, we will give you your money back.
10. If the piano is satisfactory after 30 days' use, the club member has eleven more months in which to satisfy himself as to the character of the piano. If it does not then prove to be everything that he expects, he has the privilege of exchanging it without one penny's loss for any other instrument of equal or greater value that we sell—and we sell over thirty different representative makes.
11. If a club member dies during the life of his contract we will immediately send a receipt in full to his family for the instrument.
12. A beautiful stool to match the piano and latest style scarf included without extra cost.
13. The piano will be tuned twice without charge.

BIG CELEBRATION TO BE EXPECTED

JANESVILLE WILL COMMEMORATE NATION'S BIRTHDAY, JULY FOURTH.

PLANS ARE NOT PERFECTED

United Spanish War Veterans To Have State Encampment Here July 3, 4th and 5th.

Janesville will celebrate the Nation's birthday, July 4th, in a manner fitting the occasion. While the plans are not yet all completed, it is safe to say it will be a grand occasion lasting from the third until the fifth, with the Fourth the big day of them all.

The celebration this year will be in charge of the committee of the United Spanish War Veterans, and a special committee of the Industrial and Commercial club, which have been appointed and are at work now on the plans.

The state encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans will be held in Janesville, July 3d, 4th and 5th, permission to have it on these dates having been received from the adjutant general of the national organization George N. Tamm, of Washington, D. C., by C. A. Buchholz of this city, the adjutant of the state organization, Edward Palmer, also of Janesville, the department commander of Wisconsin, will issue the formal call for this gathering in a few days.

When the plan for holding a big celebration here in connection with the state encampment of the veterans was first discussed, both the Harry L. Clifford camp of the veterans, and the Industrial and Commercial club appointed special committees to form a joint committee to handle the affair. Of this committee C. A. Buchholz is chairman and the members from the Spanish War Veterans camp are Edward Palmer, department commander, Alfred Scott, George Kneek and David Alvord, all from the Industrial and Commercial club George McKee, and John Gollner.

One of the plans now under consideration is the holding of an invitation to all the military companies, comprising the First Wisconsin National Guard to be present for the Fourth. This will mean that there will be eight hundred to a thousand soldiers here from Monday the third, until Wednesday the fifth.

The Light Horse Squadron of Milwaukee, and Battery A of Milwaukee will also probably be asked, and will probably march overland, if they accept. General Charles Kink of Milwaukee, former adjutant general of the state, will be asked to take charge of the encampment here and will have a special staff which he will appoint.

Negotiations have been under way for the past three months with the War Department at Washington, for a detail of regulars to be here to camp during the entire session of the reunion, and also to take part in the Fourth of July drill. The sending of the soldiers to Texas may cause some changes in the plan, but it is probable that a detail will be secured.

Special permission had to be obtained from the national organization of the veterans to hold the encampment here in July, as a ruling was recently made, which ordered that all states hold their yearly gatherings in June or earlier. This permission was received this morning by the state adjutant C. A. Buchholz.

The joint committee of the Industrial and Commercial club and the Veterans will meet in a day or two to map out the active campaign for funds, advertising and arrangements for the coming celebration, which bids fair to eclipse any held in Janesville in many years.

In Praise of Ice Cream.

Sunday dinner without ice cream is an imposition on the whole family. Say, brother, did you ever notice the expression of the faces of the children when they were ready for ice cream, and canned peaches were brought in? There is a chance for mirth and rebellion right there. When the family is feeling grouchy just serve them vanilla ice cream and pour hot thick chocolate over the ice cream. Then life is worth living.

PARK PROJECT IS BEING PUSHED BY MEN INTERESTED

Plan To Organize Stock Company and Buy Fair Grounds Is Meant.

Unless something unusual happens, the present site of the fair grounds, and the scene of many a hard fought contest in the days when fast horses made Janesville their headquarters, will pass into the hands of a corporation of business men to be prepared as a driving park, base ball field and possibly a site for annual auto races, a full and spring race meet and perhaps an industrial exhibit each fall.

The committee who have been soliciting funds: J. C. Nichols, Charles Putnam, Alderman Sheridan, and P. S. Sheldon reported that over seven thousand dollars has already been secured in stock subscriptions, which almost insures the success of the plan. The property will be immediately converted into a park, the track put in good condition, the ball diamond widened, the grand stand and added to and the stalls and fences repaired. The gentlemen in charge of the affair will incorporate and will hold auto meeting there this summer, a race meeting this fall, and lease the ground for circus, for the big sham battle on July Fourth, which is part of the day's celebration plans. It is possible the city street car line will build a loop into the grounds and it goes not less than two blocks from it which will add to the convenience of the patrons.

OMAHA BOY ESCAPES KIDNAPERS

Ex-Attorney General's Son Tells Thrilling Story of Abduction.

Omaha, Neb., April 26.—Dazed and staggering under the influence of chloroform, Bernard Smyth, eighteen years old, walked into his home last night after a thrilling escape from kidnapers.

In fulfillment of threats made in many blackmailing letters demanding a large sum of money from the boy's father, J. C. Smyth, former attorney general, two masked men seized the youth while he was walking home from a tennis club. The pair bound and gagged their victim, threw him into a closed carriage and took him to a deserted shack in a suburb of the city.

According to young Smyth's statement, one man departed, saying he was going to get Frances Hochstetler, the sixteen-year-old claim of Smyth, who also had been threatened.

While he was alone with the remaining kidnaper, Smyth says the man was overcome by the fumes of chloroform he was administering to his captive.

The young man broke away and escaped to a street car line and eventually reached home. Young Smyth was in a serious condition from nervous fright, and his narration of the adventure was incoherent.

SEND SAN SALVADOR WARNING.

U. S. Tells Republic to Beware of Nicaraguan Revolutionists.

Washington, April 26.—A diplomatic warning was sent by the United States to the government of San Salvador, advising that country to have nothing to do with a revolution against the Estrada government of Nicaragua, its Central American neighbor.

The administration here has learned from Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson at Mexico City that Dr. Rodolfo Esplaza, who was Nicaraguan minister to this country during Zelaya's administration, had just left the Mexican capital for San Salvador for the purpose of establishing a revolutionary junta there.

It happens that the United States—this just became known—is negotiating a treaty with Nicaragua similar to the one it negotiated with Honduras, whereby Nicaragua is to receive a $12,000,000 loan from this country, probably from the Morgan syndicate in New York.

CHAIR STRIKE BECOMES GRAVE.

Furniture Employees May Fight Non-union Importations.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 26.—Notwithstanding the fact that three furniture manufacturers, against which a strike had been declared, had acceded to the demand of the employees and signed the union agreement, the situation is grave. The Michigan Chair company will attempt to resume work with non-union men. Other large establishments also will import non-union men, and violence is expected. The bakers and the electrical workers demanded a ten per cent. advance in wages and will strike May 1 if they do not get it.

Kindergarten Union in Session.

Cincinnati, O., April 26.—After several days of committee meetings, the International Kindergarten union opened its eighteenth annual meeting last night with a public session in the Woodward high school, at which addresses of welcome were heard and the announcements for the convention were made. Hundreds of kindergartners are here from all over the country and after the numerous reports of officers and committees are made this morning, they will settle down to three days of work for which a very elaborate program has been arranged. Miss Mary C. McCulloch of St. Louis is presiding.

ADMIRAL ACCUSED AS NUISANCE.

Mrs. O. P. Belmont Has Finnish Lecturer Haled into Court.

New York, April 26.—Dr. John Jackola of Finland, who, in the last two months, has been lecturing here on woman suffrage, chiefly under the auspices of Mrs. O. P. Belmont's association, and who, it was reported, was paying attention to her, is to appear at the East Fifty-fourth street police court on a charge of disorderly conduct. The complainant is Mrs. Belmont's secretary, James McMahon. Doctor Jackola would not admit that the charge had grown out of his attempts to make love to the wealthy leader of one section of the suffragists in America, nor would he deny it.

DROPS NAVAL ACADEMY CASE.

Secretary Informs Congressman Miss Deers Incident is Closed.

Washington, April 26.—The secretary of the navy announced in a letter to Representative Kierby of Indiana that the incident of Miss Mary Deers, daughter of Professor Deers of Yale, who was declared by "an individual" to be not the proper person to attend a midshipman at Annapolis, is closed and that so far as the navy department is concerned, Secretary Meyer also suggests that "it would seem due to the young lady and her family that they be spared the annoyance of further publicity."

FORMER HEAD OF FISH TRUST IS FINED $2,000

Prosecutor Releases Him on False Pretense Charges, But Holds Him for Conspiracy.

Chicago, April 26.—Vernon Booth, president of the now defunct concern of A. Booth & Co., clubman and well known Chicagoan, was fined $2,000, but otherwise set free from the toils of the law in record breaking time. Twelve minutes served to dispose of every charge against Mr. Booth and Frederick H. Robbins, treasurer of the defunct concern, who was indicted with him on the charge of conspiring to defraud the Continental National bank out of $300,000, and wipe the legal calendar clear of cases which have been pending for over two years and of indictments which followed months of investigation into the affairs of the concern of which Mr. Booth was the head.

State's Attorney Wayman personally went into court and asked the judge to dismiss the two first indictments against Booth and Robbins, which charged them with obtaining money and credit under false pretenses. He asked that Booth be fined $2,000 on the charge of conspiracy. The similar charge against Robbins was dismissed on motion of the state's attorney.

Mr. Wayman, in his statement to the court, said that he had misconstrued the statutes in drawing up the indictments charging Booth and Robbins with obtaining money and credit under false pretenses.

Thus was disposed of proceedings which really began September 10, 1908, when the firm of A. Booth & Co., which at that time was supposed to possess a practical monopoly of the fish business of the country, was forced into the hands of receivers. At the time of the failure the concern was supposed to have assets of $8,000,000 to offset liabilities of $6,000,000, but it developed afterward that these assets were not of the value at which they had been placed by the fish company.

New Mexico Land Withdrawn.

Washington, April 26.—New Mexico lands aggregating 223,645 acres were withdrawn from entry by President Taft upon the recommendation of Secretary of the Interior Fisher and reserved for examination and classification with respect to their coal value.

The Earth Wouldn't Satisfy Him.

PEACE ENVOY NOW AWAITED

MADERO READY TO ANNOUNCE HIS APPOINTEES AS SOON AS DIAZ'S ARE NAMED.

UNTIL THEN, NO PROGRESS

Rebels' Horses Disturb Mormons in Northern Portion of the Republic—
Mexican War Department Issues
Orders to Stop Hostilities.

El Paso, April 26.—Tentative peace plans laid down by the Mexican government were discussed behind closed doors by the peace mission which again assembled here.

Gen. Madero said that he was expecting to learn the name of the government's envoy or envoys at any hour. Until this is done no real progress can be made, except that the revolutionary leaders may reach a clear understanding of the situation.

The insurrecto commander is ready to announce his appointees as soon as the government representatives are named.

The Madero family, it is understood, regard El Paso as the most convenient meeting place for the peace commissioners.

Feel Certain of Peace.

Peace negotiations, it is expected, will consume at least a fortnight. Confidence in the successful outcome of these negotiations marks the situation, both in the insurrecto camp and in Juarez.

Apparently the only ones disturbed by the present situation in northern Mexico are the Mormons at Colonia Dublan.

According to advices from Casas Grandes, most of the horses of Madero's army were left at that point when the insurrectos advanced on Juarez, and in their search for pasture
many Mormon farms have suffered.
At least a thousand horses are roaming in the vicinity of Casas Grandes.
It is declared.

Ordered to Stop Fighting.

Mexico City, April 26.—Notwithstanding officials continued mute on the formal acceptance of the armistice proposal, news that the war department had issued orders to commanders in the armistice zone to cease hostilities has practically official sanction.

Flushed with their newly discovered powers, the deputies are indulging in debate of a character that would have been inconceivable a few months ago.
No president of the United States was ever more openly criticized in the house of representatives than has been Diaz.

The deputies discuss proposed changes in the constitution and statutes with as much freedom as do the lawmakers at Washington, and the publication of their speeches in the papers of the capital has served to make that portion of the chamber reserved for spectators the most popular place of interest in the capital.

TAFT ADDRESSES CHURCH MEN.

Tells Why There Is No State Religion
in the United States.

Washington, April 26.—President
Taft, in addressing the opening session here of the twenty-ninth congress of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States, declared that "We have no state church, because all churches that are working for the up-lifting of men and the spirit are auto-chthonous within the protection but not within the guidance or control of the government."

Referring half humorously to Associate Justice Lurton of the Supreme court, chairman of the congress, the president said there always had seemed to him to be "some sort of fraternal relation between bishops and judges."

The topic under discussion at the opening session of the congress was
"The Value of Protestantism." Rev.
Dr. Leighton Parks of New York declared that when you struck the words democracy and protestantism the same tone rang forth, "liberty, equality, fraternity."

NEW SULTAN IS PROCLAIMED.

Rebels in Morocco Take Town and Honor-Mulai Halid's Brother.

Tanger, Morocco, April 26.—Advices from Mequinez, 26 miles southwest of Fez, and one of the summer residences of the sultan, announce that Mulai el Zin, a brother of Sultan Mulai Halid, has been proclaimed sultan by the rebel Zammouris who, after capturing the place, pillaged the shops and killed several Jews.

Advices from Fez under date of April 19 state that 2,000 rebel tribesmen attacked the city from the north,
but were repulsed after a heavy fire by the infantry and artillery. The government loss was slight. Provisions have arrived in Fez, which is holding out successfully.

REBAYING "TRUE" BILLS HINTED.

Sensations Looked For in Cleveland
Railroad Investigation.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 26.—That sensational developments may be expected when the federal grand jury files its report on rebaying charges, in which local iron and coal companies and four railroads entering Cleveland are involved, was indicated when it was announced that the report would not be made for a day or two because there had not been sufficient time to draw up true bills.

London.—The greatest race of the age is on between England and Norway for the South Pole. Japan and Australia are late entrants but must be considered as possible conquerors of the south pole. Facts are meager and to some extent contradictory but it is known definitely that Captain Amundsen, with eight men and 116
dogs, is in winter quarters on his ship,
"The Fram," at Bay of Whales and that Captain Scott, with his expedition of twelve men have set out from a point called Cape Evans for the south pole.

AT THE TRIAL OF THE ITALIAN CAMORRISTS.

Photograph of Abbatemagalo, informer and ex-Camorrist, in his cage, guarded by carabinieri, in the court room at Viterbo, Italy. The picture shows one of the most remarkable individuals who has ever figured in the criminal history of the continent. His cage, too, is unique in the history of modern legal proceedings. It serves the dual purpose of preventing his escape—for he is still a prisoner—and of protecting him from the vengeance of friends of the accused.

WEAVING CLOTH-OF-GOLD FOR THE CORONATION.

During the coronation ceremony four vestments are put upon the king.
First comes the Colobium Sindonis of white linen; then the Supertunica, or Close Pall; next the Pallium or Imperial mantle; and, finally, the Stole. The three last named are of cloth-of-gold. King George V. will wear the Pallium worn by King George IV. at his coronation. The Supertunica and the Stole will be made specially for him, and cloth-of-gold is now being woven for them.
For Supertunica and Stole about twelve yards are necessary and the fabric is being woven, 21 inches wide, at Messrs. Warner's at Bradford. The weaver turns out nine or ten inches a day. It is understood that there will be much ornamentation on the Supertunica, but the Stole is likely to bear a number of devices. Drawing shows William Follott, the manager, watching the weaver.

Browning a Great Talker.
If Lord Houghton talked more than most people he certainly was eclipsed by Mr. Browning, who spoke louder and with greater persistence than anyone I have ever come across in my life. Although I had known him as a girl, we did not renew our acquaintance until after my marriage, when I saw a great deal of him, as he constantly came to our house. He dined with us often and used to come and see me generally every Sunday afternoon. He was very agreeable and kind, and, although I was never one of his devoted followers and often told him I had never been able to read a line of his poetry, he still continued his friendship with me. I think most people feared rather than loved him—certainly men did; but women adore poets, and they worshiped Mr. Browning.—From Lady St. Holler's "Memories."

Memorial to Famous Women.
The chapel of the new Liverpool cathedral, which is to be open next summer, has a scheme of beautiful stained glass windows commemorative of the deeds of good women. The sides the women of the Bible, the following are commemorated: Dr. Alicia Marvel and all who have laid down their lives for their saviors, Grace Darling and all courageous maidens, Josephine Butler and all brave champions of purity, Mary Collet and all prayerful women, Louise Stewart and all the army of martyrs, Christine Rosset and all sweet singers, Catherine Gledstone and all loyal-hearted wives, Elizabeth Barrett Browning and all women who have seen the infinite in things, Angela Burdett-Coutts and all women almoners of the king of heaven, Mother Cecile and all women loving and large hearted in counsel.

Possibly Sarcastic.
Three men sat in a row in a car, facing a middle-aged, clean-shaven man of ruddy complexion, who had an elongated leather case on his knees. Said the first man: "I bet I can tell that man's business. He's a doctor."
"Wrong," commented the second. "It's a carpet-layer."
"Nix on the carpet layer," said the third. "It's a piano tuner."
The middle-aged man across the aisle put down his leather case and leaned forward. "I couldn't help overhearing you gentlemen," he said, "and I want to correct you. My name is George Harvey. I am a veterinary surgeon and if I can be of any service to you call on me."
They are still wondering what he really meant by his offer of service.

Proof Positive.
"He is hard-hearted; whenever he runs any one down with his auto he speeds up and leaves them." "That's because he's tenderhearted. It breaks his heart to hear their groans of pain."

What sea monster?

Old Trade Secrets.

There are trade secrets in the Chinese vermilion industry centuries old, which no foreigner has ever been able to fathom.

Belgium's Fine Sea Front.
The sea front of Belgium, which extends about 40 miles, stretching from Holland to France, is paved almost entirely for the entire length, and forms one huge, wide ocean boulevard. And this, by the way, is the most productive of public works in the kingdom.

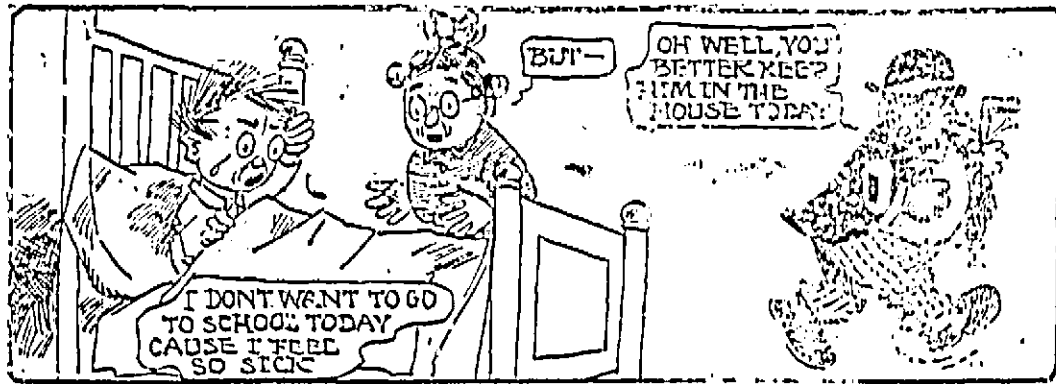

His Penalty.
Gertrude—"What did you say when you asked for my hand?" Gerald—"I said that he wouldn't stand in the way of my unhappiness if I needed the money badly."

Where We Fall Down.
Leigh Hunt: Few people, rich or poor, make the most of what they possess. In their anxiety to increase the amount of means for future enjoyment they are too apt to lose sight of the capability of them for the present.

The Lesser Evil.

The man who happens to forget a few things is by far better company than he who will never learn to forget one or two regrettable happenings.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

"YOU aren't glad to see me tonight?" said the six-foot man.

"Yes," said the distractingly pretty little lady, but said it so dubiously that, of course, he recognized it as equivalent to a "no."

"Why aren't you glad to see me tonight?"

"Because."

"Because what?"

"You know."

"I do not."

"I told you over the telephone."

"Surely you don't mean because I asked you to come to meet me instead of my going out to the house for you?"

"Why not?"

"But, dear, didn't I tell you that I had some unexpected work that I positively had to do that kept me later than usual?"

"I know, but I think it's perfectly horrid for a girl to have to go to meet a man."

"But you know I don't often ask it of you, and if you hadn't come in tonight we would have missed half the first act and made everybody get up to get to our seats."

"Well, I don't know; but it seems to me that if a man truly liked and respected a girl he would manage some way to come to her father's house and get her."

The six-foot man looked down at the distractingly pretty little lady, half exasperated, half puzzled.

"This was one of the many exasperating little squabbles of unreasonableness in which the pretty little lady continually indulged."

For a moment he remembered the hours of tense straining to get that work done in time to go to all, and the scrap of sandwich which had served him for a dinner, and he looked rather stern, and then, partly because he was a six-foot man—six foot ladies as well as outside—and partly because she was distractingly pretty, he simply said gently:

"Well, little girl, we will try not to let it happen again."

Whereupon the little girl, to reward him very sweetly and tightened over so lightly the clasp of her fingers on his coat sleeve, and the six-foot man, thrilled in every nerve by that 100-watt current of exquisite sensation which those fingers had power to start, quite forgot he had felt exasperated even for a moment.

And apparently all was merry as wedding bells.

But really it wasn't.

For the little girl was committing one of Judge Bonnot's fifteen errors of life from which I have quoted before—"Not to yield in unimportant trifles."

Just now the six-foot man finds it worth while to endure this exasperating pettiness, but some day, after they have been married a year or two, there will come a time when the current does not work so spontaneously, and the smile will have become a commonplace, and then, if the little girl hasn't grown any wiser, there will surely be trouble.

Trouble may mean an overhauled house changed to indifferent and cold courtesy.

Or it may mean happily mean a quick revolt that will open the little girl's eyes in time.

Let us hope the latter.

Many women have an idea that men rather like them to be inconsistent and exasperating.

So they do.

But as a seasoning for the meal of life, not for its substance.

They are doubtless glad to have their cake spiced with the cinnamon of inconsistency and the allspice of coquetry, and even a little ginger of temper and exasperation.

But you can win a sure wager if you bet that there isn't a man living who will eat very much of the cake if he finds the cook has dumped in a cup of ginger in the place of the flour of common sense and livableness.

To Women Readers

So much interest has been displayed in the present menu contest that the Gazette management has decided to add to the list of the prizes to be awarded by offering ten extra prizes for the ten best menu lists after the four main prize winners.

There is not a home in the country that has not got a bit of old silver that is black and tarnished. Remembering this the Feature Editor has secured a limited number of "Silverene" one of the most perfect automatic silver cleaners ever manufactured. In fact it is not on the market yet, the patent not having been issued.

This cleaner, unlike any other, is placed in a pan of warm water with salt and soda and the article to be cleaned is placed in it. Its effect is magical. It is one of the great time savers for the busy housewife.

Two of these will be added to the list of prizes already offered, for the next ten best lists of menus for the entire week, twenty-one meals in all, received. That will make the prizes now offered as follows:

First prize—Culinary Fireless Cook-stove.

Second prize—$5.00 in gold.

Third prize—$3.00.

Fourth prize—$2.00.

For the next ten best lists a "Silverene" to each.

The contest closes on Monday next, April 26, and the completed lists of menus must be received in the Gazette office by Saturday morning, May 6.

In making up your lists be sure and state on what days the recipes used were published in the Gazette. Keep in mind that the idea of this contest is to create a series of menus that can be used by a family for every day use, and that the feature of utilization of odds and ends to keep down expenses will count in deciding the winners.

OYSTERS BEST EATEN RAW.

"The oyster is almost the only animal substance"—I quote from a standard authority—"which we eat habitually and by preference in the raw or uncooked state; and it is interesting to know that there is a sound physiological reason at the bottom of this preference. The fawn colored mass which constitutes the dainty of the oyster is its liver, and this is little less than a mass of glycogen (animal starch); associated with the glycogen, but withheld from actual contact with it during life, is its appropriate digestive ferment—the hepatic diastase. The mere crushing of the dainty between the teeth brings these two bodies together, and the glycogen is at once digested, without other help, by its own diastase. The oyster, in the uncooked state, or merely warmed, is in fact self-digestive. But the advantage of this provision is wholly lost by cooking, for the heat employed destroys the associated ferment, and a cooked oyster has to be digested, like any other food, by the eater's own digestive power."

Serving Strawberries.

The delicious strawberry served as nature can not be improved upon. Place a small mound of powdered sugar on a paper doily, then heap the berries around it, leaving on the hills. When the strawberry leaves can be obtained use them instead of the doily. Nothing could be more appetizing on a hot morning or for first course at a summer luncheon. Have the berries well chilled.

Do not fail to prepare a glass or two of sun preserved berries. They will make a choice dish for the holiday table.

One of the nicest of pastries is the strawberry pie. Bake a rich crust and fill with chopped berries well mixed with powdered sugar. Cover with sweetened whipped cream and serve.

Another delicious dessert is made with angel food baked in two tins and put together as shortcake, with berries. Serve with whipped cream, sweetened.

Supreme of Strawberries.

Put a hollow mold with strawberry jelly made by using the strawberry juice and gelatin. Unmold and fill the center with ripe large berries and powdered sugar, with whipped cream. Serve very cold.

Strawberries cut in halves and served with pineapple makes a very good salad. Using French dressing made with lemon juice instead of oil. The pineapple may be cut in cubes or the strawberries heaped on a slice for each serving.

Cocoanut Soup.

Put the meat of half a cocoanut through a meat chopper two or three times until smooth. Cook gently one hour in one quart of white stock. Thicken with one tablespoonful of rice flour or wheat flour, add a tablespoonful of lemon juice, a bit of cayenne and nutmeg, and salt to taste. Rice boiled until soft and put through a ricer may be used instead of rice flour.

Having been asked to print the following recipes by one of the contestants they are published with the names of the persons who gave them as tried recipes. If there are any others who want recipes published that they may use them in the coming contest they should make haste to get them into the hands of the Feature Editor, so that they can be printed before the contest closes.

Veal Croquettes.

Chop cold veal fine, season highly with salt, pepper, cayenne, onion juice, celery, salt and parsley. If you like, add half the amount of oysters parboiled and drained; moisten with beaten eggs, and white sauce, shape into rolls, roll in fine bread crumbs, egg and crumbs again and fry in smoking hot fat.—Mrs. H. B. Eldredge.

DERMA VIVA, THE IDEAL FACE POWDER

Makes face, hands, arms and neck as white as milk and does not show or rub off. Pimples, Blackheads, Freckles, Moth or Liver spots cured in a few days. Have handled this preparation for years and recommend it. Baker & Son, Price 50c.

One pint hot cream, 2 even table-spoons butter, 1 heaping table-spoon flour or 2 heaping table-spoons corn starch, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon white pepper, one-half teaspoon celery salt, a few grains cayenne. Scald the cream, melt the butter in a granite sauce pan; when bubbling add the dry corn starch, stir till well mixed and add one-third of the cream and stir as it boils and thicken; add more cream and boil again; when perfectly smooth add rest of the cream. The sauce should be thick, almost like drop butter, and seasoning and salt to suit taste; rub through a strainer and serve immediately.—Mrs. Stanley B. Smith, Jansville.

Potato Soup.

One quart of milk, six large potatoes, one stock of celery (if convenient), one tablespoonful of butter, half milk with onion. Pare potatoes and boil, and mash them fine and light; add the boiling milk and butter. Pepper and salt to suit taste; rub through a strainer and serve immediately.—Mrs. Stanley B. Smith, Jansville.

Cream Pie.

One pint milk, yolks of 3 eggs, 1 large tablespoonful corn starch, 1 cup sugar, piece of butter the size of an egg, flavor with vanilla. Let the milk come to a boil, then stir in eggs, sugar, corn starch and butter and let boil until thick. Bake crust and then pour in custard, then make a frosting with the whites of the eggs and put in oven and brown lightly.—Mrs. Ed. Doty, 256 South Main street.

Rhubarb Pie.

Four boiling water over two teaspoonfuls of chopped rhubarb, drain off the water after four or five minutes and mix with the rhubarb a teaspoonful of sugar, the yolk of an egg, a piece of butter and a tablespoonful of flour, moistening the whole with three table-spoons of water. Bake with the lower crust only and make a meringue of the white of the egg with three table-spoons of sugar; spread over the top of the pie and return it to the oven to brown.

Lemon Pie.

Two table-spoons of flour, two thirds of a teaspoon of water, one teaspoon of sugar, yolks of three eggs and one grated lemon. Bake in a hot oven. While in the oven beat the whites of three eggs to a froth and mix in three table-spoons of sugar; turn it over the pie and return to the oven until nicely browned.

Rice Balls.

Take hot cooked rice, season with salt, pepper and butter, and add very finely minced chives and parsley—a table-spoonful of chives and a teaspoonful of parsley to each cupful of rice. Mix well and form into small balls the size of a walnut and set away to get cold. When ready to use dip each ball in beaten egg, roll in ground pine nuts and fry a golden brown in boiling fat. Drain and serve as a garnish to meat or game.

Cranberry Frappe.

One quart of cranberries, two cups of water, two cups sugar, juice of two lemons. Cook cranberries and water for eight minutes. Force through sieve, then add sugar and cook ten minutes. Strain juice of lemon in and cook five minutes longer.

Apple Croquettes.

Put over the fire in a saucepan one cup of stale bread crumbs and a half cup of milk. Cook, stirring constantly until smooth, then add one large apple, chopped fine and a dozen almonds, ground; the yolks of two eggs beaten with a table-spoonful of sugar, table-spoonful of lemon juice and the grated yellow rind of half a lemon. Cook until thickened, then turn out on a platter to cool. When quite cold form into croquettes, roll in fine crumbs and fry in smoking hot fat. Serve with caramel sauce, maple syrup or powdered sugar.

Excellent Cookies.

Eight table-spoons of sugar, six table-spoons of melted butter, four table-spoons of milk, two eggs, two table-spoons of baking powder and flour to thicken. Stir the butter into the sugar; beat the eggs lightly and add them to the butter and sugar, stirring well, and then add the milk. Sift the powder with a little flour, stir it in and add more flour, enough to admit of rolling out. Place the dough on a well floured board, roll it thin, cut the cookies out and, if liked, dip each in granulated sugar as soon as possible after being cut. Bake in a quick oven.

OLD MEXICAN SKIRMISH.

April 25.—On April 25, 1846, the United States congress declared war against Mexico. Trouble had been brewing for some time over the boundary line between Texas and Mexico, the U. S. contending that the Rio Grande was the line, and Mexico claiming that the Nueces was where we set off. This was no Bluff "maneuver," as congress appropriated $10,000,000, and the dogs of war were out loose. The first few months were spent in preparation and then the heavy stuff was pulled off. Battles were fought at Buena Vista, Sacramento, Vera Cruz, Cerro Gordo, Chapultepec, and on the 14th of September, 1847, General Scott made his triumphant entry into the City of Mexico and hauled down the flag that had floated over the halls of the Montezuma since the conquest of Cortez. That showed the Mex what Uncle Sam could do, and a treaty of peace was soon signed that settled the border question, and were it not for the fact that Mexico has some timber and mineral lands that some people fancy, we would probably be at peace with Mexico till the crack of doom.

A Yellow Bathroom.

It was a pleasant surprise recently to find instead of the conventional blue or green bathroom a cozy room in yellow and brown. The woodwork was buff and on the floor was a rich brown linoleum, covered with a brown and yellow rug. The curtains were of cream satin, the bath mat a pretty yellow.

Baby's Hair-Ribbons.

When the hair of the wee girl begins to get long and curly the young mother wants it tied up in a big bow. When selecting these choose a delicate shade and one which is becoming or it will detract instead of adding to baby's appearance. Boys' hair should never be tied.

WHERE THE HONOR LIES.

Ambition forms the motive for most of our actions. We live in the sun of aspiration and we die trying to attain. Life is beautiful to most of us only as it produces the things upon which we build our hopes. We look out and envy the station to which others have attained. But we do not realize that no station can honor the man, but that the man, by honesty of conduct, must honor the station.

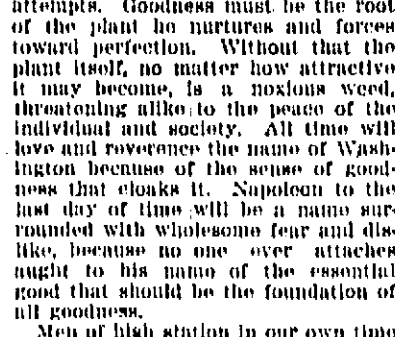

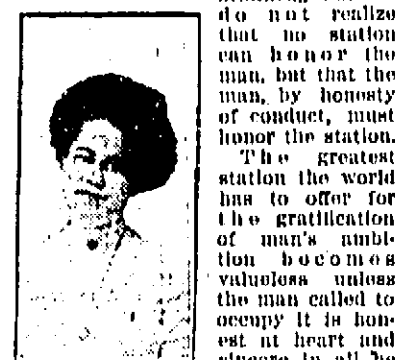

The greatest station the world has to offer for the gratification of man's ambition becomes valueless unless the man called to occupy it is honest in heart and sincere in all his attempts. Goodness must be the root of the plant he nurtures and forces toward perfection. Without that the plant itself, no matter how attractive it may become, is a noxious weed, threatening alike to the peace of the individual and society. All time will love and reverence the name of Washington because of the sense of goodness that cloaks it. Napoleon to the last day of time will be a name surrounded with wholesome fear and dislike, because no one ever attaches aught to his name of the essential good that should be the foundation of all goodness.

Men of high station in our own time either honor the station to which they have been called or they make it of merely a thing towards which others point with feelings of contempt. The fact lies in the fact that too many people regard position as a right and not as a privilege to be used in the full light of its opportunities to do the greatest amount of good for the greatest number of people.

In short, too many people are overcome with the importance of position. They fail to see that no position is of value unless it is made a place of honor, and that this is only possible through the highest integrity. From the poorest officeholder to the mightiest in the land this is true. The official in the little hamlet, who has a high sense of his obligations and undertakes to fulfill them in a worthy manner, is doing more to reflect honor on public life than is the man in high place who is negligent or who uses his position to further selfish ends.

And the same holds true with regard to social position. The woman who dashes by in her new model automobile, or who helps to make up the list of prominent guests at some notable gathering, may not be doing as much to reflect honor on womanhood as the sister who tells all day over the wash tub, or who expends her life in catering to the wants of a cantankerous public from inside the counter of the department store. The little ill-paid cash girl may be doing far more to show the true ideals of blossoming womanhood than the pampered little daughter of wealth.

And it does often happen that this is just the case. Fortune of position has nothing to do with it. It is the inherent spirit of desire that makes one

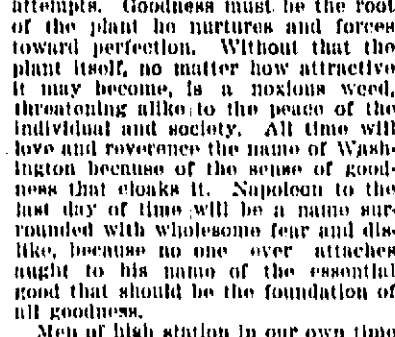

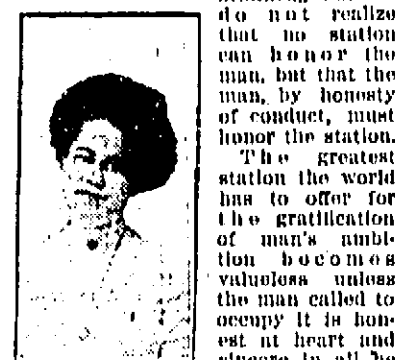

O, the old apple tree is as brave as brave can be— It spreads its scattered blossoms out for all to see. Most of its branches are withered so no leaf to them will cling Yet still it answers soldierwise the trumpet call of spring And one may see it hence itself while its few buds unfold And try to look as splendidly as it has been of old.

O, the old apple tree! Why the va-grant honeybees will see it scarce a passing glance—the same as you or me— And yet it dons its tattered robe as proudly as a king When through the warming air it hears the trumpet of the spring: And like an old, old man who stands defiant of his years It quivers into weaker bloom when spring's shrill call it hears.

O, the old apple tree! For a rest it makes no plea But nois with aged billowness to the culous honeybees With feeble, croaking utterance it will bend before the breeze And try to dance as nimbly as the other, younger trees— But best of all it gives us new its blossoms from the bud As when long since it fairly dripped with fragrant flower-food.

O, the old apple tree is as brave as brave can be— Send that when you and I are old we have such bravery! That when the years have withered us and left us bleak and bare We rouse ourselves when the trumpets of the springtime blow, That we shall not, nor feel our selves from other folk apart, But show how love and life and light are schooled in the heart!

KEITH OF THE BORDER
A TALE OF THE PLAINS
By RANDALL DARRISH
Author of 'My Lady of the South'
When Wilderness Was King
Illustrations by DEANBORN NELVILLE

Exhausted by a night of high play and deep drinking, the border town was sleeping on its debauch, saloons and gambling dens silent, the streets almost deserted. To Keith, whose former acquaintance with the place had been entirely after nightfall, the view of it now was almost a shock—the salubrious slacks, the gaudy saloon fronts, the littered streets, the dingy, unpainted hotel, the dirty flap of canvas, the uncoupled road, the dull prairie sweeping away to the horizon, all composed a hideous picture beneath the sun glare. He could scarcely find a man to attend his horse, and at the restaurant a drowsy Chinaman had to be shaken awake, and frightened into serving him. He sat down to the miserable meal oppressed with disgust—never before had his life seemed so mean, useless, utterly without excuse.

He possessed the appetite of the open, of the normal man in perfect physical health, and he ate heartily, his eyes wandering out of the open window down the long, dismal street. A drunken man lay in front of the "Red Light" saloon sleeping undisturbed; two cur dogs were snarling at each other just beyond over a bone; a moving wagon was slowly coming in across the open through a cloud of yellow dust. That was all within the radius of vision. For the first time in years the East called him—the old life of cleanliness and respectability. He swore to himself as he turned the Chinaman pay for his breakfast, and strode out onto the steps. Two men were coming up the street together from the opposite direction—one lean, dark-skinned, with black goatee, the other heavily set with closely trimmed gray beard. Keith knew the latter, and waited, leaning against the door, one hand on his hip.

"Hello, Bob," he said genially; "they must have ranted you out pretty early today."

"They shore did, Jack," was the response. He came up the steps some what heavily, his companion stopping below. "The boys raise hell all night, an' then come ter me ter straighten it out in the mornin'." When did ye get in?

"An hour ago; had to wake the 'chink' up to get any chuck. Town looks dead."

"Faint over lively at this time o' day," permitting his blue eyes to wander up the silent street, but instantly bringing them back to Keith's face, "but I reckon I'll wake up later on."

He stood squarely on both feet, and one hand rested on the butt of a revolver. Keith noticed this, wondering vaguely.

"I reckon yer know, Jack, as how I generally git what I goes after," said the slow, drawing voice, "an' that I draw 'bout as quick as any o' the boys. They tell me yo're a gun-fighter, but it won't do ye no good ter make a play yere, fer one o' us is sure to git yer—do yer sabe?"

"Get me!" Keith's voice and face expressed astonishment, but not a muscle of his body moved. "What do you mean, Hob—are you follows after me?"

"Sure thing; got the warrant here," and he tapped the breast of his shirt with his left hand.

The color mounted into the cheeks of the other, his lips grew set and white, and his gray eyes darkened.

"Let it all out, Marshal," he said sternly, "you've got me roped and tied. Now what's the charge?"

Neither man moved, but the one below swung about so as to face them, one hand thrust out of sight beneath the tail of his long coat.

"Make him throw up his hands, Bob," he said sharply.

"Oh, I reckon that ain't goin' ter be no trouble," returned the marshal genially, yet with no relaxation of attention. "Keith knows me, an' expects a fair deal. Still, maybe I better ask yer to unhitch yer belt, Jack."

A moment Keith seemed to hesitate, plainly puzzled by the situation and endeavoring to see some way of escape; then his lips smiled, and he silently unhooked the belt, handing it over.

"Sure, I know you're square, Hicks," he said, coolly. "And now I've unhooked, kindly inform me what this is all about."

"I reckon yer don't know," "No more than an unborn babe. I have been here but an hour."

"That's it; if yer had been longer that wouldn't be no trouble. Yo're wanted for killin' a couple o' men out at Chimmarron Crossin' early yesterday mornin'."

Keith stared at him too completely astounded for the instant to even speak. Then he gasped.

"For God's sake, Hicks, do you believe that?"

gold to take a row, or come along quiet."

As though the words had aroused him from a bad dream, Keith turned to front the stern, bearded face.

"There'll be no row, Hob," he said, quietly. "I'll go with you."

CHAPTER IV.

An Old Acquaintance.

The Carson City lock-up was an improvised affair, although a decidedly popular resort. It was originally a two-room cabin with gable to the street, the front apartment at one time a low grocery, the keeper sleeping in the rear room. Whether sudden death, or financial reverses, had been the cause, the community had in some manner become possessed of the property, and had at once dedicated it to the commonwealth. For the purpose thus selected it was rather well adapted, being strongly built, easily guarded, and on the outskirts of the town. With iron grating over the windows, the back door heavily spiked, and the front secured by iron bars, any prisoner once locked within could probably be found when wanted. On the occasion of Keith's arrival, the portion abutting upon the street was occupied by a rather miscellaneous assembly—the drunk and disorderly elements conspicuous—who were awaiting their several calls to appear before a local justice and make answer for various misdeeds. Some were pacing the floor, others sat moodily on benches ranged against the wall, while a few were still peacefully snoring upon the floor. It was a frowsy, disreputable crowd, evincing but mild curiosity at the arrival of a new prisoner. Keith had barely time to glance about, recognizing no familiarity of face amid the mass peering at him, as he was hustled briskly forward and thrust into the rear room, the heavy door closing behind him with the snap of a spring lock.

He was alone, with only the faintest murmur of voices coming to him through the thick partition. It was a room some twelve feet square, open to the roof, with bare walls, and containing no furniture except a rude bench. Still dazed by the suddenness of his arrest, he sank down upon the seat, leaned his head on his hands, and endeavored to think. It was difficult to get the facts marshalled into any order or to comprehend clearly the situation, yet little by little his brain grasped the main details, and he awoke to a full realization of his condition, of the forces he must war against. The actual murderers of those two men on the trail had had their suspicions aroused by his actions; they believed he guessed something of their foul deed, and had determined to clear themselves by charging the crime directly against him. It was a shrewd trick, and if they only stuck to their story, ought to succeed. He had no evidence, other than his own word, and the marshal had already taken from his pockets the papers belonging to the slain man. He had not found the pocket hidden under his shirt, yet a more thorough search would doubtless reveal that also.

When the case came to trial, Keith would have to prove his innocence, and would have to establish his identity.

As though the words had aroused him from a bad dream, Keith turned to front the stern, bearded face.

"There'll be no row, Hob," he said, quietly. "I'll go with you."

how would it be possible for him to establish innocence, and would it ever come to trial? Keith knew the character of the frontier, and of Carson City. The inclination of its citizens in such cases was to act first, and reflect later. The law had but slender hold, being respected only when backed by the strong hand, and primitive instincts were always in the ascendency, requiring merely a leader to break forth in open violence. And in this case would there be any lack of leadership? Like a flash his mind reverted to "Black Bart." There was the man capable of inciting a mob. If, for some unknown reason, he had sufficient interest to swear out the warrant and assist in the arrest, he would have equal cause to serve those fellows behind him in other ways. Naturally, they would dread a trial, with its possibility of exposure, and eagerly grasp any opportunity for wiping the slate clean. Their real security from discovery undoubtedly lay in his

Struck the Wrong Man.

To Jacob Hope, a Philadelphia bird and animal expert, an odd adventure happened the other day. Mr. Hope was strolling out Walnut street when a bird faker accosted him. The faker drew from his pocket the usual painted sparrow—a gorgeous thing of blues and golds and greens—and, evidently taking Mr. Hope for one of the millionaires of Rittenhouse square, he said: "I just nabbed this bird off that there walnut tree. Can't I sell her to ya cheap? Look at her—ain't she a beauty? I never seen nothin' like her before. What kind of a bird is she, do you know?" "Young man," said Mr. Hope, "it's true that birds of a feather flock together, then I should say that, undoubtedly, she is a jailbird."

Tolstol's Solution of Problem.

"The only reason for life is the universal desire for welfare which, in reasoning man, becomes expanded to a desire for universal welfare—in other words, to love. It (this universal desire for welfare) expands its limits naturally by love, first for one's family—one's wife and children—then for friends, then for one's fellow countrymen; but Love is not satisfied with this, and tends to embrace all!—Rose Strunsky, in the Atlantic.

Where Appetite Is Keen.

A day's ration for one man on a sledging journey across the Polar sea consists of four ounces of condensed milk, one-half ounce condensed tea, one pound pemican, three ounces (liquid) petroleum oil, three ounces (liquid) pure alcohol, one pound ship's biscuit.

It Would Seem So.

The subjoined item appeared in a French newspaper: "There was found in the river this morning the body of a soldier cut to pieces and sewed up in a sack. The circumstances seem to preclude any suspicion of suicide."

As She Is Spoken.

"English is a funny language, after all, isn't it?" "Why so?" "I heard a man talking of a political candidate the other day, say: 'If he only takes this stand when he runs he'll have a walk-over.'"

"My husband got a whole case of 'Pain Expeller' from the 'Pain Expeller' Co., determined to get cured of my 3-year case of bull-dog death, and with the 'Red Light' crowd behind them they would experience no trouble in getting a following desperate enough for any purpose."

Move On, or Get Out of the Way.

Did you ever drive cattle out of the pen? If you have, you have often seen an old cow stop in the gateway and horn everything back. There are lots of people in the world just like the old cow. They stand in the path of progress and horn everything down that is for the betterment of their community and country.
